

Making Hay

1.

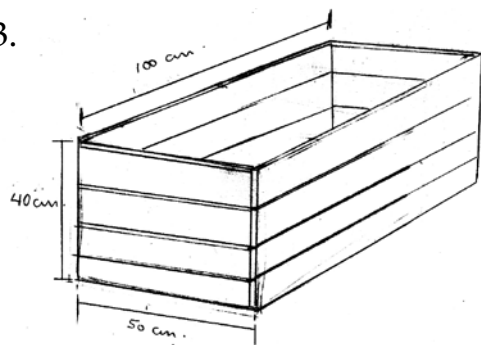

Cut the grass during the wet season when it is still growing.

2.

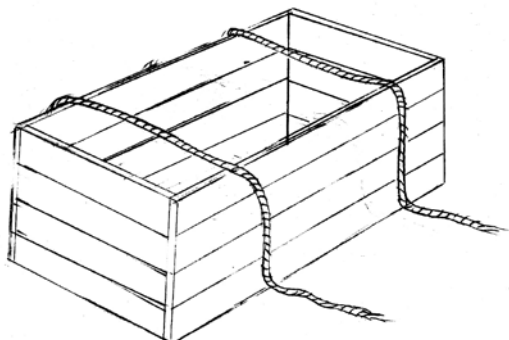

Lay the grass out to dry. Turn it once a day with your hands.

3.

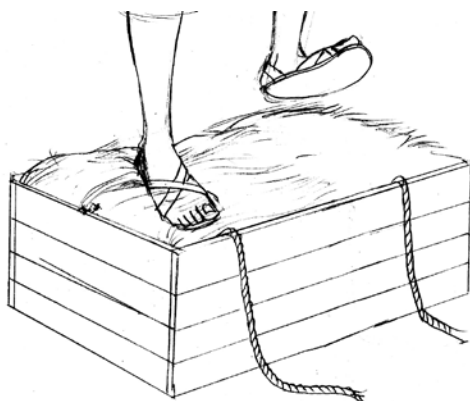

Make a hay box out of sticks or wood.

4.

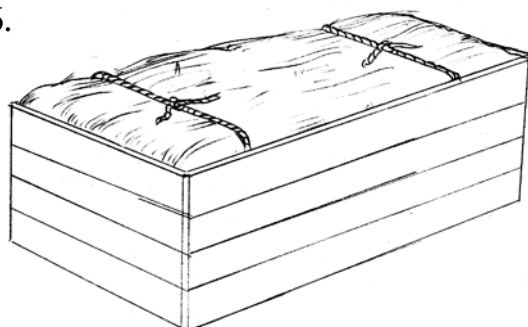

Lay two long pieces of rope across the hay box.

5.

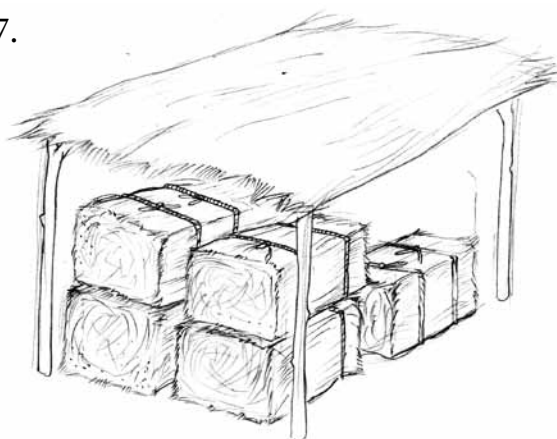

Stomp down on the hay until it fits in the box.

6.

Tie the hay with the ropes.

7.

Lift the hay bale out of the box and store it in a cool, protected place. Use the hay during dry season when there is a shortage of fodder.
